JAMESTOWN POLICE DEPARTMENT

MESSAGE FROM CHIEF JACKSON

I am pleased to provide this 2025 annual report documenting the work of the Jamestown Police Department. This year saw a 2.35% decrease in crime. In late 2025, the Jamestown Police Department was the recipient of the NYS Statewide Targeted Reductions in Intimate Partner Violence (STRIVE) grant funding which aims to improve the response to intimate partner abuse and domestic violence. This funding, in the amount of $309,815, will be used by the Jamestown Police Department's Domestic Violence Unit (Project Crossroads) to enhance our services to victims, as well as hold offenders of domestic violence accountable.

Recruitment remains a top priority within the agency. The department will be implementing new initiatives in 2026 to attract more officers. The department has begun forming a recruitment team of volunteer officers motivated to bring career law enforcement officers to the Jamestown Police Department. Also, in 2026 the Zone 13 training academy will also begin a Phase 1 and Phase 2 curriculum, which will lessen the financial burden placed on recruits as well as allow local agencies to sponsor and hire recruits sooner than previously.

This year saw the retirement of K9 Officer Erik Kraft as well as Lieutenant Greg Wozneak. Lieutenant Matt Bentley left the department to take the position of Chief of Police in Lakewood, NY. Lieutenant Wozneak also accepted the position of Chief of Police in Westfield, NY after his retirement. This year the agency welcomed five new officers to the ranks. Lucian Talbott, Nick Jones, Emma Hollenbeck, Chase Stevenson, and Jonathan Gomez-Martinez all began their law enforcement careers at the Jamestown Police Department. Donna Giordan and Cathleen Reich were hired as civilian staff in 2025.

The Jamestown Police Department indoor range is nearing completion after a much needed upgrade. Through the use of ARPA funds the department has a new, modern facility for training that can be used for many years to come.

The department continues to work with the Department of Development (DOD) to hold offenders accountable for those that take advantage of vacant properties throughout the City. Trespassing, larcenies, criminal mischief, and other offenses are often committed in areas of blight.

— Chief Timothy Jackson

OPERATIONS DIVISION

The Jamestown Police Department is separated into two sections, Operations and Administration and both sections are overseen by the Deputy Chief. The Operations Division is responsible for providing direct police services to the public. The members of the Operations Division are committed to our citizens through the:

- protection of life and property,
- protection of the constitutional guarantees of all people,
- reduction of opportunities for the commission of crime,
- resolution of conflict,
- identification of criminal offenders and criminal activity,
- apprehension of offenders, and
- coordination of the efforts of the Jamestown Police Department with other police agencies.

Deputy Chief Scott Forster

The Jamestown Police Department is committed to working with the citizens of Jamestown to create a relationship between the community and its police department to not only reach, but to set new goals to achieve to reach a common objective.

There are 56 sworn police officers, a dog control officer, and five crossing guards assigned to the Operations Division. These officers represent the front line of the department and are in most circumstances have the initial contact with the community. Members of the operations division continue to stay vigilant and proactive in the patrol duties on a daily basis. They also offer themselves to be more accessible to the community and have a direct relationship with community members to build trust, which assists in the reporting and investigative efforts of these officers.

The City of Jamestown is the largest municipality in the county and continues to experience over half of the violent crime that is committed countywide. The Operations Division encompasses the Patrol Section, the Special Operations Section, and the Operational Administration Section. Deputy Chief Forster is also responsible for coordinating the agency's commitment to New York State Division of Criminal Justice Service's grant funded programs.

Patrol Section

The Patrol Section consists of three platoons of uniformed officers who staff three shifts each day. In each platoon, a lieutenant serves as the platoon commander. The lieutenant has overall responsibility for the administrative and daily supervision of platoon activities. Each platoon is divided into three squads with three or four officers assigned to each. In addition, two sergeants are assigned to every platoon as supervisors.

The Patrol Section is responsible for proactive patrols, responding to calls for service, initial and follow up investigations, traffic and parking enforcement, community relations, neighborhood awareness and reaction to neighborhood problems.

Additionally, the Patrol Section provides a communications officer for each shift. Usually a sergeant, the communications officer is responsible for operating the Command Center at the Jamestown Police Department. This position is responsible for monitoring and assisting the Dispatch Center, operating E-Justice and computer systems, and assisting the public at the station.

The Patrol Section also operates the City Jail. Patrol officers and patrol command staff are responsible for the control, incarceration, safekeeping, and humane treatment of prisoners in custody, in addition to booking and related processing of prisoners in custody, assisting the Court Security Unit with persons they arrest, and coordinating transportation of prisoners to the County Jail.

The Jamestown Police Department also employs two School Resource Officer. One is assigned to the Jamestown High School and the other rotates between the elementary and middle schools. The position is filled by PO John Conti (JHS) and PO Zachary Sandberg (rotating).

GRANTS

POLICE TRAFFIC SERVICES GRANT:

The Police Traffic Services Grant is awarded annually and provides funding to support seatbelt and occupant restraint enforcement during specified statewide “enforcement waves” and expanded enforcement efforts directed by our department. Pro-active patrols also target aggressive driving, speeding, distracted drivers, cellular phone, and other dangerous driving behaviors. In 2025, our agency was awarded $8,680.

OPERATION SAFE STOP:

Operation Safe Stop is a statewide enforcement initiative that is not funded by any grant. Our agency and the Jamestown Public School District participate in this program annually in the spring of each year. The goal of the initiative is to ensure motorists are not passing stopped school busses and cite motorists who violate this law.

GUN INVOLVED VIOLENCE ELIMINATION INITIATIVE:

In 2014, New York launched a new effort called the GIVE (Gun Involved Violence Elimination) Initiative, an innovative program designed to build on the success of Operation IMPACT while focusing exclusively on shootings, homicides, and violent crime. For the City of Jamestown, GIVE focuses on all forms of violent crime. In 2025, Chautauqua County was awarded a total of $738,212, with $309,980 designated for the Jamestown Police Department. The grant has allowed for the expansion of funding to hire a Crime Analyst and a full-time Anti-Violence Coordinator. The Crime Analyst works to collect and evaluate crime data, identify trends and hot spots, and assist with investigations. The Anti-Violence coordinator oversees the management of the grant and collaborates with county partners to implement the GIVE strategies. These efforts work to reduce incidents of shootings, aggravated assaults, and other violent crimes by promoting integrated, evidence-based approaches that include four core elements:

- People – GIVE jurisdictions will target the key individuals and groups, also known as the “top offenders,” responsible for most gun violence.
- Places – GIVE jurisdictions will target the key locations, or “hot spots,” where most violence is occurring.
- Alignment – GIVE jurisdictions will align their efforts and coordinate strategies with other local violence-prevention efforts.
- Engagement – GIVE jurisdictions will engage key stakeholders and the community at large, communicating and coordinating with them to ensure wide-ranging support.

The Chautauqua County GIVE partnership increases the number of joint patrols conducted with agencies such as the Chautauqua County Sheriff's Office, NY State Parole, Chautauqua County Probation, and the City of Jamestown Department of Development (D.O.D). Officers from these agencies collaborate with the Jamestown Police Department officers to patrol targeted locations, conduct inspectional visits of parolees and probationers, and address emerging crime trends. As a result, the program has led to numerous high-profile arrests and improved the department’s ability to identify and track offenders to assist in deploying resources more effectively.

In addition to enforcement, the GIVE initiative focuses on prevention and community involvement. The Jamestown Police Department’s primary community-focused program is the Citizen Police Academy. This program provides city residents with knowledge of police operations and helps foster stronger relationships between the department and the community.

STATEWIDE TARGETED REDUCTIONS IN INTIMATE PARTNER VIOLENCE:

In 2025, Governor Hochul launched the Statewide Targeted Reductions in Intimate Partner Violence (STRIVE) initiative. Drawing on the model established by the Division of Criminal Justice Services’ Gun Involved Violence Elimination (GIVE) program, STRIVE brings together the district attorney’s office, sheriff’s office, probation departments, and local service providers in a coordinated effort. The initiative focuses on developing a comprehensive, evidence-based response to intimate partner domestic violence, emphasizing accountability for offenders and the enhancement of safety and support resources for survivors.

Chautauqua County was awarded a total of $847,225, with $309,815 designated for our agency. A portion of this allocation has supported the hiring of a crime analyst who is responsible for identifying trends, assisting investigations, and enhancing our coordinated response. Additional funding will benefit operations through the improvement of resources and intimate-partner violence training.

Like GIVE, the STRIVE initiative is grounded in an evidence-based public-safety philosophy. Its six core elements include people, alignment, evidence-based strategies, engagement, skilled and supported staff, and monitoring and evaluation. While the two initiatives share a similar foundation, they differ in focus: STRIVE’s elements are designed to strengthen system responses to intimate-partner violence—prioritizing survivor safety, trauma awareness, and culturally responsive services—whereas GIVE centers on crime-control strategies that identify the high-risk individuals and locations driving gun violence.

ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT AND SERVICES DIVISION

The Administrative and Support Services Division is responsible for providing ancillary services to support department functions.

These services include management of department resources, management of the investigative section and non-sworn support staff. The Administrative and Support Services Division is divided into two sections: the Investigative Section and the Administrative Services and Support Section.

Investigative Section

Lieutenant Adam McKinley is the Investigative Section Commander, who is responsible for coordinating and leading criminal investigations within the unit. The Investigative Section has nine detectives and one Sergeant assigned to specialized units within the section. Although there are specialized units, the Investigative Section prides itself on working as a team to ensure that all crimes are fully investigated.

Detective Unit

- This unit has two detectives assigned. Their primary function is to conduct investigative follow-ups of major crimes and incidents after the patrol officers complete preliminary investigations.

Juvenile Unit

- The two detectives assigned to the Juvenile Unit investigate crimes involving victims and suspects who are 17 years of age or less, as well as felony assaults and sexual assaults where the victim is under 18 years of age. These detectives work closely with Child Protection, Social Services, Probation and Family Court.

Jamestown Metro Drug Task Force

- Three detectives are assigned to this unit. These investigators conduct drug investigations reported in the city. The detectives also assist the Investigative Section in investigations requiring surveillance and shared confidential informants. The actions of these investigators have a direct impact on the narcotics trade and crimes stemming from it.

Evidence and Property Management Unit

- Two detectives perform crime scene processing, which includes photography, evidence collection, finger printing and proper storage of forensic evidence. In addition, these detectives are evidence technicians, maintaining all collected evidence and ensuring it is properly forwarded to a lab for examination and or analysis, in addition to securing body camera evidence.

Domestic Violence Intervention Unit

- One patrol officer and one civilian employee, who is employed by Family Services, staff this unit. The unit is responsible for facilitating the Chautauqua County Coalition Against Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault by assisting and providing follow-up to victims of domestic violence.
